

ESTABLISHED 1840.

MEMPHIS, TENN., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1886.

VOL. XLVI--NO. 34.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

E. B. STAHLMAN ON THE REAGAN BILL.

The Congressional Programme for the Week--Proceedings in the House and Senate.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—Mr. E. B. Stahlman, Vice-President of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, appeared before the Commerce Committee to-day in opposition to the Reagan Interstate Commerce bill. He opposed any commission, but favored any rigid law which Congress might enact to prevent an unjust discrimination in railroad rates. Mr. Stahlman leaves for home to-morrow night.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR decides that he has no authority to interfere with or regulate the construction of the proposed stone bridge over the Mississippi at Minneapolis.

THE CONGRESSIONAL PROGRAMME for the week in the House includes pensions, silver and Fitz John Porter. In the Senate the educational and bankruptcy bills will occupy considerable time.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR received the following curious letter from a pensioner: "For good and sufficient reasons I hereby tender my resignation as a pensioner of the bounty of the United States Government."

NAVAL CADETS "BRILED." About twenty-five naval cadets will be brigged this year, the majority coming, as usual from the fourth class. Failures in the second and third classes were few as compared with former examinations. All of the first class are believed to have passed successfully.

PORTAL ORDERS. The postoffice at Birmingham, Polkett county, Ark., is discontinued. Steamboat service changes: Memphis, Tenn., to Elmer, Ark., from February 10th extend service from Elmer, Ark., to Gold Dust, Tenn., to Ashport, Tenn., increasing the distance eight miles.

Star service changes: State Line to Leakeville, from March 1st increase service to three times a week between State Line and Avera.

Postmasters at postoffice depositories for postal funds will in future forward original certificates of deposit to Washington and duplicates to the remitting postmasters.

CONGRESSIONAL. The Relations Between the President and the Senate--The House.

WASHINGTON, February 8.—House.—Mr. Cobb [Ind.], from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information as to how much of the lands of the Oregon wagon-road companies in Oregon have been patented to those companies.

Under the call of States, a number of bills were introduced and referred. Mr. Dockery [Mo.], from the Committee on Accounts, reported adversely a joint resolution abolishing all mileage fees and authorizing each member of Congress to employ a clerk.

Mr. O'Neill [Mo.], from the Committee on Labor, reported a resolution calling on the Postmaster-General for information as to whether letter-carriers came in under the provisions of the eight hour law. Adopted.

Mr. Crane [Tex.], from the Committee on Labor, reported a bill constituting eight hours a day's work for all laborers, etc., employed by the United States Government. House calendar.

The House then, at 4:10 o'clock, went into Committee on the Whole. Mr. Hammond [Ga.] in the chair, on the half-gallon liquor tax bill.

Mr. Weaver [Ia.] took the floor with a speech upon the financial condition and in an attack upon the national banking system. There were four things, he said, relating to finance which this Congress must enact: First, it must provide for unrestricted coinage of a new dollar; second, it must be passed for the issue of treasury notes to take the place of the bank notes; third, the larger portion of the surplus in the Treasury must be paid out in liquidation of the interest-bearing public debt; fourth, it must forbid, by law, any further discrimination against silver.

The committee then rose, and the House adjourned.

THE SENATE. The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury in compliance with a recent resolution offered by Senator Ingalls, inquiring as to the amount of silver bullion purchased each month since July 1, 1885. Also a communication from the Secretary of the Navy in compliance with law, showing the number of clerks, etc., in the Navy Department, and also a memorial of the Legislature of Mississippi favoring the Kads canal ship railway. The papers were appropriately referred.

Petitions were presented by Senators Logan, Sawyer, Wilson, Cockrell, Palmer, Coke, Miller, N. Y. J. Harrison, Plumb and Daves from various assemblies of Knights of Labor, praying for the opening up to settlement of the Oklahoma lands and the granting of lands in severalty to Indians; also a number of petitions praying that a constitutional amendment be submitted by Congress to the several States forbidding disfranchisement on account of sex.

A memorial of the Kansas Legislature was presented by Senator Ingalls, urging Congress to provide for rights of way for railroads through the Indian Territory.

A memorial of the same body was presented by Senator Plumb, setting forth that the course of Land Commissioner Sparks in indiscriminately and indefinitely suspending land titles was working great hardship to bona fide settlers in that State, and while not wishing to interfere with any effort that would prevent the fraudulent acquisition of public lands the Legislature urges Congress to take such steps as may be deemed necessary to secure the earliest practicable settlement of the question involved in order that the injury to bona fide settlers may be as slight as possible. The papers were appropriately referred.

Senator Ingalls offered a resolution, which was agreed to, directing the Committee on Finance to inquire into the propriety of making such an amendment to the Revised Statutes as may be necessary to repeal the act of United States notes of the denomination of one and two dollars.

Senator Eustis offered a resolution directing the Finance Committee to inquire whether it had been the custom for the Assistant Treasurer of New Orleans to receive deposits of standard silver dollars from shippers of said coin, and to issue to their correspondents at New Orleans receipts for the silver, subject to count, and to issue silver certificates after the count of said dollars so deposited had been made, and whether said custom, if it had prevailed, had been changed by instruction of the Treasurer of the United States and the reasons therefor; also, whether such custom was now in force at any other Sub-Treasury; also, whether there was adequate clerical force at the New Orleans Sub-Treasury, and, if not, why assistance was necessary there to enable the Sub-Treasurer to carry out the law. The New Orleans Sub-Treasury, Mr. Eustis said, had refused to receive a shipment of $25,000 of silver from the Memphis, Tenn., Bank of Commerce and the Waco State Bank of Waco, Tex. That statement should be substantiated. Mr. Eustis continued, and if it should be proved that custom of receiving silver had prevailed at New Orleans, and it was not violative of law, and that it now prevailed in New York and other places, then, Mr. Eustis said, the official who had approved of the change of custom in the city of New Orleans exposed himself to very grave suspicions, to say the least of it, with reference to a secret warfare against the silver dollar. Mr. Eustis would make no charge in the absence of proof, but he wanted to get at the facts.

Shot remarks were made by Senators Ingalls, Teller and Gorman.

During further discussion of the resolution Senator Sherman took the floor in its support. He said the inquiry was entirely proper, and that the Senate had a perfect right to anything on the extensive files, either relating to this subject or to executive appointments, suspensions or removals.

This precipitated a debate upon the question so long pending in caucuses and committee meetings and secret sessions as to the right of the Senate to information regarding removals.

At the close of Mr. Sherman's remarks, the resolution of Mr. Eustis went over until to-morrow, and after an executive session the Senate adjourned.

In the executive session, replies from Secretary Manning to the resolution of the Finance Committee calling for information with regard to certain collectors of Internal Revenue, were laid before the Senate. They were similar in tenor to that made by the Attorney-General in respect to the Duetin case.

Local Option in the District of Columbia.

Senator Colquhoun [Ga.] will introduce in the Senate this week a bill establishing local option in the District of Columbia. The bill provides for a vote by the people upon the question, and is extremely rigorous. Under its provisions no intoxicating liquors can be sold or consumed within the limits of the District of Columbia or imported there, unless it comes under a law no longer can be used at the state dinners of the President. The bill has been submitted to several Senators and Representatives, and it is said that its main features have been approved by many of them. Senators Blair [N. H.] and Hoar [Mass.] are quoted as saying they will favor it.

Several measures were reported from the committee and placed on the calendar.

NASHVILLE, TENN. Evidence Accumulated Against the Arnold Murderers.

(SPECIAL TO THE APPEAL.) NASHVILLE, TENN., February 8.—Two officers went to the house of Ben Brown, the ringleader in Arnold's murder, and found the ax with which the body was chopped. The handle had been tied to conceal the blood-stain and blood was on the blade. The ax was found in two places, one in which the body was laid when it was cut up. The planks were decayed by an ax. In the left on the rafters were other blood stains. A pair of bloody pants were found in a fence corner back of the stable. The ax was identified by Bill Brown as the one with which the chopping was done. The murderers have not been indicted.

Nannie Cantrell, the woman who was stabbed by her sister Sunday afternoon, contrary to expectations, is much better, and it is thought she will recover.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. Settlement of the Rate on Pig Iron.

(SPECIAL TO THE APPEAL.) BIRMINGHAM, February 8.—The iron men who went to Louisville and conferred with the freight authorities last Friday about the pig iron rate to the North and West, are back, and say they have nothing to report as to the meeting in addition to the fact already made public, that their suggestions were taken under advisement. It has been suggested that the recent advance of the rates by the Ohio River pool is to be only a precursor of similar action by Eastern roads. The manufacturers here say if this proves true they will not complain, as they would be willing for the railroads to have better rates if the Southern roads are only put on an equal footing with Northern competition. The settlement of the rate question awakened general interest among business men here.

Four Lives Saved. Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup relieved four of my children of a most alarming attack of Whooping Cough, from which their throats and necks became so swollen as to prevent them from swallowing. Nothing would give them even temporary relief, until this Syrup was used. One bottle, in one night, saved their lives. I verily believe.

GEO. W. HANLEY, Captain of Police, Baltimore, Md.

Grain in Sight. CHICAGO, ILL., February 8.—The number of bushels of grain in store in the United States and Canada February 6th, and the increase or decrease, compared with the previous week, will be posted on "Change to-morrow," as follows: Wheat, 48,200,797, decrease, 792,168; corn, 5,311,573, increase, 51,893; oats, 2,447,964, decrease, 169,978; rye, 354,304, decrease, 5306; barley, 1,467,339, decrease, 108,571. The amount in Chicago elevators was: Wheat, 14,491,490; corn, 2,678,726; oats, 303,413; rye, 304,063; barley, 154,358.

Have tried Tongaine, and find it a safe, easy and efficient neuralgic remedy. It is an invaluable remedial agent, long needed.

A. L. SCHUBERT, M. D., Ashland, O.

TERRIBLE RIOT AT LONDON.

THE CITY IN THE HANDS OF A HOWLING MOB.

Stores and Houses Sacked and Pillaged--Attacks on Defenseless People.

LONDON, February 8.—The "starving mechanics" of London to-day held a mass meeting in Trafalgar Square around the Nelson monument and it resulted in a riot. The proceedings were opened with an assemblage of 10,000 men. Police were present in large numbers. They at once saw that the Socialist element of London, greatly predominated in the crowd, which was also managed by well known Socialists, and extraordinary vigilance was ordered and to preserve the peace at all hazards. Conspicuous among the leaders of the multitude was Mr. Burns, who was the Socialist candidate for Notingham in the recent election. He sneered at the police and acted generally as if he wished to bring about a conflict between them and the people. Finally, he ascended the pedestal of the Nelson column for the purpose of delivering a harangue. He was attacked by the mob, who were to be tolerated, and the police politely ordered him to get down. This he refused to do, appealing to the crowd to resist "interference with the exercise of popular rights." The officers, however, were determined and they pushed their way through the mob, and by force removed Mr. Burns from the pedestal. By this time the crowd had vastly augmented, and the streets adjacent were packed with raging mobs. The air in the elevated spot where the Burns incident took place, was easily perceptible; almost the entire area covered by the concourse and the sight of helmets and uniforms into a struggle, was accepted as visible proof of the commencement of the "FIGHT AGAINST THE LAW."

The intelligence was responded to with a general and fearful howl, and an attempted rush from all directions to the point of interest. Burns had now been removed some distance from the Nelson monument, and he occupied. He became emboldened by the cry of the throng, and made a desperate effort to recover his lost ground. He was so effectively helped by the mob that the officers on the spot were brushed out of the way and the orator was soon pressed up against the monument, accompanied by a number of other Socialist leaders. Burns bore a red flag, and he waved it to the assemblage as a signal of his triumph over the authorities. He was greeted with deafening shouts, repeated again and again. Burns then delivered a speech, and dressed. He then read a fiercely worded resolution, and denounced the "authorities of the present distress in England," and demanded that Parliament start public works to give employment and bread to the tens of thousands of starving mechanics who were in want through no fault of their own, but because of bad government; to afford every facility for the employment of British capital at home for the benefit of British people, and to give British enterprise preference over foreign, and asserted that the time had arrived for Parliament to earnestly legislate for the relief of the depressed in the ENGLISH AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRY.

The resolutions demanded the immediate appointment of a minister of commerce and a minister of agriculture, and concluded with the resolve that copies should be forwarded to Mr. Gladstone, Lord Salisbury, Mr. Parnell and the Board of Public Works. The reading of the resolutions was accompanied by fierce comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs by quiet and peaceful agitation, by force comment and short explanatory speeches by the various orators who stood with Burns. Some of these orators went so far as to warn the government that although the "starving mechanics" of London are now attempting to draw attention to their needs